Healthy Ideas for Student Rewards

Its tempting to buy a bag of candy for student rewards, but do we really want to encourage children to eat every time they have done something good or deserve a reward? Instead of food, try these ideas.

UI	ue.	serve a rewards instead of food, if y mese ideas.
		Think non-food items that support the curriculum or a healthy habit.
		Ask the children for their ideas.
		Make low cost items (school spirit, book marks) at school.
		Ask the parent group for funds to support some low cost
	_	items.
		WHAT vendors supply economical items?
		riental Trading ~ 800-875-8480; www.oriental.com/home.htm
Western Dairy Council ~ 800-274-MILK; Email: info@wdairycouncil.com rung People's Healthy Heart Program www.healthyheartprogram.com contact Sharon Buhr 701-845-6456
		WHAT are some no-cost ideas?
Of	ten	times kids are happy with simple things like:
	Ho yo	omework free night: Keep a bowl of marbles and a jar on your desk. Each time u want to reward the students, take a marble from the bowl and add it to the jar.
П		hen the jar is full of the marbles, the students get a homework free evening.
		Joy Some Fresh Air: Take the kids on a walk around the block or provide tra recess time to them.
		ade especially for you: Bookmarks can be made and run off on the school
П	-	nter in color ink.
	He	ewards that support the curriculum: Check out the Young People's Healthy eart Program for ideas to have grades K-6 specific rewards that support the rriculum.
	Kid	d Ideas: Don't forget to ask the kids for their "no cost ideas"					